SC orders Senate to present Gonzalez

By Dennis Austin/Asst. Editor

In a move that has been described as a "show of force," the Supreme Court today ordered the Senate to present the case of the late Senator Antonio Gonzalez.

The court's decision, which was issued in a 5-4 vote, was a surprise to many, as the Senate had previously refused to do so.

The court's decision was based on the fact that the Senate had failed to follow the proper procedure in presenting the case of the late Senator.

The court's decision was a clear statement that the Senate must follow the proper procedure in presenting the case of a Senator.

SC delays anew verdict on VAT

THE HONORABLE JUSTICE DELAYED his ruling on the lower court's decision to allow the Department of Finance (DOF) to collect value-added tax (VAT) on the sale of imported goods by the DOF.

The justice last week refused to grant a writ of certiorari and prohibition, which would have nullified the lower court's decision. He said that the lower court's decision was not a final judgment and that the case should be remanded to the lower court for further proceedings.

"The writ is denied for the reason that the lower court's decision is not a final judgment and that the case should be remanded to the lower court for further proceedings," he said.

Australians win Nobel medicine prize for ulcer research

Two Australian scientists have won the Nobel Prize in Medicine for their discovery of the bacteria that cause stomach ulcers.

The prize was awarded to Barry Marshall and Robin Warren, who discovered the bacterium Helicobacter pylori.

The discovery has revolutionized the treatment of ulcers, which were once thought to be caused by stress or acid.

Marshall and Warren's work has led to the development of antibiotics that can kill the bacteria and cure the ulcers.

The Nobel Prize is one of the highest honors in science, and Marshall and Warren are the first Australians to win it.

El opens historic talks with Turkey

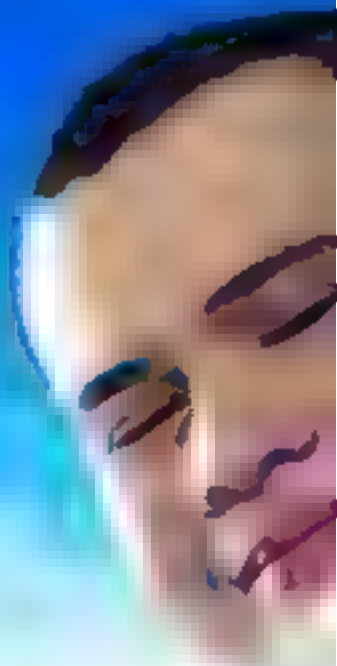

President Recep Tayyip Erdoğan of Turkey has opened historic talks with the European Union (EU) in Brussels.

The talks are the first of their kind since the EU's accession to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) in 2004.

Erdoğan is expected to discuss the EU's role in the Middle East and the EU's relationship with Turkey.

The EU has been a long-time ally of Turkey, but the two sides have had a rocky relationship in recent years.

The talks are seen as a sign of a new era of cooperation between the EU and Turkey.

Getty museum offers to return artefacts to Iraq

The Getty Museum has offered to return a collection of ancient artefacts to Iraq.

The artefacts were looted from Iraq in 1991 and have been in the museum's collection since then.

The museum has now agreed to return the artefacts to Iraq, as part of a deal to settle a long-running dispute over the items.

The artefacts include a collection of ancient Mesopotamian objects, including a large number of cuneiform tablets.

The deal is seen as a significant step towards the return of cultural heritage to Iraq.

Vizcaya bishop turns critic of GMA

By Marjorie Raposo

Manila — Archbishop of Manila, Cardinal Jaime Sin, has turned his back on the Catholic Church's traditional support of the government and its allies, and has become a vocal critic of the administration of President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo.

The cardinal, who has been a close ally of the president since she took office in 2001, has been vocal in his criticism of the administration's handling of the 2007 elections, the human rights situation in Mindanao, and the government's policy on the war on drugs.

In a series of public statements, the cardinal has accused the government of human rights abuses, including the killing of innocent civilians, and of covering up the truth about the 2007 elections. He has also called for the government to respect the rule of law and to protect the rights of all citizens.

The cardinal's criticism has been seen as a significant shift in the Catholic Church's position on the government, and has drawn the attention of both domestic and international observers.

Depot eviction fears haunt 3 oil firms

By Abigail L. Ho and Tina G. Santos

OIL FIRMS PETRON CORP., PILIPINAS SHELL Petroleum Corp. and Caltex Philippines Inc. have again raised fears that they could be evicted from their depot in Pandacan with the imminent passage of a Manila City government ordinance that would reclassify the location of the depot into anything other than industrial.

Under the Manila Comprehensive Land Use Plan and Zoning Ordinance of 2005, the Pandacan depot area could be reclassified into a commercial/residential area, making operations no longer suitable there.

"We won't know where to go if it's reclassified to commercial," an oil industry official said. "We've complied with all the conditions in the memorandum of understanding (MOU) with the Manila government, and they're still planning to evict us."

Manila Mayor Lito Atienza insists that the oil firms must leave the depot. "We never talked about the oil firms' continued stay in Pandacan. The city government's stand remains that the oil firms would, one day, have to leave the area," the mayor told the INQUIRER yesterday.

Reclassification

City Ordinance 8027 provided for the reclassification of the oil depot's location from an industrial to a commercial zone. It took effect April 30, 2003 with the expiration of the MOU between City Hall and the oil firms.

To prevent the total closure of the depot, the oil firms signed an agreement with the city government to scale down its operations there as well as provide a "green buffer zone" between the oil tanks and the residential area.

In the meantime, Atienza said the city government had demanded that oil companies should implement safety measures particularly aimed at protecting residents living in the vicinity of the oil facility.

"So far, the oil firms have been complying with our agreement, but that doesn't change the fact that they should relocate sooner or later," he added. "The most viable option is still a scale down. We're urging the oil firms to accelerate the removal of all other structures."

Under the agreement, the three oil companies were required to dismantle 28 of the 54 tanks in the depot. Liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) terminals in the depot also had to be removed.

The oil official said Petron, Shell and Caltex had complied with these and other conditions stated in the MOU, adding that the oil firms did not want to vacate the Pandacan depot then and would not want to leave now because of supply issues that would arise if they do so.

The Pandacan oil depot supplies around 50 percent of Luzon's fuel needs and around 82 percent of Metro Manila's gasoline and diesel requirements. It also provides fuel to the neighboring provinces of Cavite, Laguna, Bulacan, Pampanga, Tarlac and Nueva Ecija.

Three years ago, the Department of Energy said a premature closure of the terminal would reduce fuel supply by 40 percent, resulting in even higher fuel costs.

But it may not be a lost cause for the oil firms as the new ordinance has a provision regarding structures that may be deemed of national significance.

Section 54 of the ordinance states: "Projects may be deemed by the National Economic and Development Authority Board as projects of national significance pursuant to Section 3 of EO 72. When a project is declared by the Neda board as a project of national significance, the zoning permit shall be issued by the Housing and Land Use Regulatory Board."

Who was first QC mayor?

By DJ Yap

ON THE OCCASION OF ITS 66TH FOUNDING anniversary, Quezon City seeks to resolve a historical puzzle: who was its first mayor? The son of former Quezon City Mayor Tomas Morato believes it was his father, Manuel Morato, Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office board member said his father was the first Quezon City mayor by virtue of an appointment made by Quezon on Oct. 12, 1939.

Hoping to settle the issue, Morato submitted documents at a forum yesterday. An essay by historian Bernardita Reyes Churchill also mentioned that "President Quezon himself assumed the functions corresponding to the Mayor, from Oct. 12 to Nov. 4, 1939, but without the formal appointment of a mayor. On Nov. 4, he appointed Tomas Morato, then acting Quezon City Chief of Police to be the Mayor."

Quezon's grandson, Manuel Quezon III, didn't make it to the forum, but had written in a newspaper: "It would be correct to state that Tomas Morato was appointed the first Mayor, but that for a short period of time, based on Manuel Morato's own chronology of events, President Quezon acted as officer-in-charge of the city named after him, until his hand-picked appointee could assume his duties."

A slamming street dance showdown

By Kim Hyeon-Ho Staff
Jed Simon Foundation

DANCING—AN ART FORM that merges music and movement—is evolving. It has been at ground zero in the underground, and now it's breaking out into the mainstream. In place of a crowded club and its high-priced dancing, hip-hop dancers are now performing their art in front of thousands of people.

Thanks to the growing popularity of the art, the Jed Simon Foundation has been able to sponsor a series of street dance competitions in the past few years. The first competition was held in 1995, and the second was held in 1996. The third competition was held in 1997, and the fourth was held in 1998.
